Friends of Cyrus opens Day Program for adults with developmental disabilities in Middlesex County, NJ (Dayton)

Dayton, NJ – (Friends of Cyrus – February, 2020) - Friends of Cyrus (FOC), a New Jersey based service provider for adults with developmental disabilities, proudly announces the opening of its newest Adult Day Habilitation.

Based in Middlesex County, the new location will offer structured, center-based and community-based programming for up to 40 individuals in 7,000 square feet of space — providing opportunities for enrichment in all aspects of functional skills. Participants are offered a variety of purposeful activities to engage in, including community service.

The new day program adds to a wide range of services currently offered by FOC throughout New Jersey, including children’s and adult in-home services, eighteen community residences, a children’s ABA clinic (also in Middlesex county), and it’s South Jersey Adult Day Program; situated in Medford, NJ.

When an individual joins the agency, FOC’s team conducts personalized assessments and plans for each participant, working with individuals and family members every step of the way. Programmatic goals focus on basic living skills, communication, community participation, behavior support, pre-vocational skill development, supported employment and much more.

FOC is thrilled to open its newest location in Middlesex County — adding much needed services to a county whose leadership has embraced supporting individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The program will open its doors on March 16th, 2020. A formal open house will commence on April 24th, from 11 am to 4pm, with refreshments provided. All are invited to attend and should feel free to contact Yahya Rahman, Vice President of Support Services at Yahya@lifetimewithcyrus.com for more information, or to RSVP.

About Friends of Cyrus

Friends of Cyrus opened its doors in 2013. It's sister-agency, Lifetime with Cyrus, opened in 2016. Ever since, FOC’s two Co-Founders, Kamelia Kameli, CEO and Daren Singhani, Chairman of the Board, have been on an unwavering mission; to create a haven of lifetime support options for New Jersey’s developmentally disabled residents. Together, the agencies support over 200 children and adults throughout the state of New Jersey; a combination of community-based residences (“group homes”), adult in-home services, adult day habilitation services, children's intensive in home ABA services and children’s clinic based ABA therapy.

Kameli has a 28 year old son named Cyrus who was diagnosed with Autism at an early age. Cyrus is the namesake of both organizations.
